

Periodic Statement Information as at 30 June 2025

Periodic Statements provide information including the opening and closing balances of your investment, changes to your investment, management costs (including fees charged), the return on investment, as well as changes in circumstances that may affect your investment. As a listed entity, this information relating to GDI¹ is readily available to investors through GDI's ASX releases and its Annual Report, all of which is available on GDI's website (www.gdi.com.au). However, additional information relating to management costs and GDI's price performance is provided below.

Management costs

Management costs are not charged directly to GDI securityholders, however they represent the total indirect cost incurred by GDI securityholders recognised by GDI as an expense in its Income Statement for the period. They include costs such as employee remuneration, registry, custody, accounting and other administrative costs. They do not include costs that would be incurred if an investor invested directly into GDI's assets (e.g. property management fees).

A summary of management costs incurred per security in FY25 is provided below:

	30 June 2025 12 months
Weighted average securities on issue	537,275,046
Total management costs ($m)	10,056,761
Management costs per security ($)	0.019
Total management costs for 1,000 units ($)	18.72
